About IEEE

The IEEE (Eye-triple-E) is a nonprofit, technical professional association of more than 377,000 individual members in 150 countries. The full name is the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, Inc., although the organization is most popularly known and referred to by the letters I-E-E-E.

Through its members, the IEEE is a leading authority in technical areas ranging from computer engineering, biomedical technology and telecommunications, to electric power, aerospace and consumer electronics, among others.

About NU Student Chapter

The NU Student Branch is one of more than 1,150 student branches at universities worldwide. Membership is a great way to make connections with other students, engineers, and the industry. As the leading technical authority in many areas, IEEE contains a wealth of information available to its members. See the members page to find out how to become a member.